PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

How about rockhound weather forecasters?-- Must be something to it. Sure looks like we're well on the downhill side of winter. Why all this? I was very pleased to see so many of our members and their friends at the March meeting. I believe it was about the best attendance we have seen all winter. Must be because spring is in the air.

The idea of the silent auction seemed to go over well. A lot of our members brought out some very good material, and a lot more of our members wanted to give the material a new home.

The support of club activities by so many of our loyal members is our best advertisement. And the report of new people who signed membership applications at the last meeting shows that we are on the right track.

PROGRAM -- Silent Auction and Swap, March 20 Meeting. Bring all of the specimens you would like to sell at the Silent Auction. Label each piece with the name of the specimen, the locality it is from, and the expected beginning bid. You will receive 75% of the final selling price and the club will keep the remaining 25%. There will be labels available prior to the time the auction begins. If you want to trade or swap, bring along material for trading, too. This should be a good way to improve your collections or get some of the cutting material you have been longing for.

Ernest Fulton has volunteered to be our historian, and we are very sure he will be excellent in this job as it seems to be a part of his hobby. Thank you, Ernest.
